E. C. Griswold Protests at Council Over Manner of Displacement from Assessorship

Participation of Borough in Local Politics Advocated in Course of Discussion

NEW ASSESSOR ATTENDS

Advocacy of participation of the Narberth Borough Council in local politics was made at the March meeting on Monday night. The question arose over the displacement of Edward C. Griswold, Real Estate Assessor for the Borough for the past four years.

Mr. Griswold appeared at the meeting and made a protest to Council against the manner in which he had been abruptly dropped by the County authorities.

Shortly after Mr. Griswold arose to state his views on the matter, Joseph P. White, who has been appointed as Mr. Griswold's successor, entered the Council Chamber, accompanied by Henry A. Smith, Republican organization worker in the Borough.

Mr. Griswold pointed out that he had received a curt note from the County authorities stating that his services were not needed as a deputy assessor and raised the question whether Council should let his displacement go by unnoticed, inasmuch as he ran for the post at the request of members of Council.

"I resent the efforts of some of those who worked against me," he said. "In your own body here there are some who have not played square." In giving vent to his indignation at the manner in which he had been displaced, he said, "No person or property owner should make the statement that he will 'get that assessor.' I don't regret the loss of the job itself, but I don't want to be just let down."

Mr. White then took the floor and expressed a desire to co-operate with Council in his work. "It is not my idea to cut my taxes, and I don't intend to play favorites," he said, as though in reply to the charge of his predecessor. "There are some things here, however," he said, in referring to assessments, "that are not right under present conditions." Mr. White asked Council to designate one of its members to work with him in making assessments. He stated that he did not wish to fix assessments without the knowledge of Council and added that he thought a real estate man of the Borough who was in touch with current property values should also be consulted.

Autogiro is Subject of Rotary Meeting

The autogiro, "flying windmill" of modern aviation, was the subject of an interesting illustrated talk Tuesday before the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club. Richard W. Wetherill, of the Autogiro Company of America, was the speaker.

Mr. Wetherill showed two reels of motion pictures which brought out the construction features and mechanical principles of the machine, and also demonstrated the stability and safety of the odd-looking craft in flight.

The autogiro, a familiar sight to Main Liners, depends for its stability upon a revolving "windmill," which acts as the upper plane. This rotor, he explained, is not motor-driven, but revolves entirely through the action of air during the motion of the plane. The pictures showed many examples of flexible performance on the part of the ship. Take-offs and landings were made in restricted spots. Vertical landings with the motor shut off were demonstrated, and sharp banks and turns showed the ease of control. A number of questions were asked by the members.

Election of officers to take charge of the club in July resulted in the choice of J. Bedford Wooley for president, Barclay L. Jones, vice president; J. L. McCrery, treasurer, and William H. Durbin, secretary. Raymond L. Watrous and Walter B. Richards were elected to the board of directors.

Harman to Speak Here

Harvey J. Harman, head football coach at the University of Pennsylvania, will tell the "inside story of big league football" at a meeting of the James C. Simpson Men's Association on Tuesday evening, March 29. Motion pictures of last year's Penn-Cornell game will be shown, and a demonstration of tactics will be given by Captain Stanley Sokolis and George Munger, of the Penn team.

Bridge Club to Hold Second "Open House" on Monday

The Narberth Bridge Club will have its second open house of this season at the clubrooms in Elm Hall on Monday evening. A cordial invitation is extended to all bridge players of Narberth and vicinity. Duplicate contract will be played.

The club is one of the most thriving specialized organizations in the borough. Organized only last fall, there has been an average of from 275 to 300 players in the clubroom monthly. During the past five weeks 346 players have assembled there for play. These figures are printed merely to indicate to any male bridge addict that he can always find congenial companionship at the Bridge Club rooms and can be sure to sit in on a game which is exactly adapted to his personal proficiency in the game, whether he may be a beginner or a seasoned and prize-winning veteran.

Husband and Wife Die Within a Week's Time

Death paid its second visit in a little over a week to a Narberth home last Friday. Leon Marshall, of 330 Price avenue, passed away, following an illness of three months, on March 2 at the age of 52. His funeral took place on March 5 from Oliver Bair's. Last Friday his widow, Mrs. Lily Mae Marshall, died, after a three years' illness, with the funeral services from Bair's on Monday. Husband and wife were buried in Mount Zion Cemetery, Collingdale.

They are survived by one daughter and two sons, Mabel C. Marshall, Earl W. Marshall and Raymond L. Marshall, all of Narberth.

Signs to Point Way to Business Section

Narberth Business Council Sponsors Plan to Aid Visitors

COOK MEETING SPEAKER

Attractive sign posts pointing "to Narberth Station and Business Section" were sponsored by the Narberth Business Council at a luncheon meeting in the Arcadia Restaurant Wednesday. Subject to the approval of residents on whose property they will be placed, they will direct out-of-town visitors to the heart of the borough, from vantage points along Montgomery pike and Wynnewood road.

President Ralph S. Dunne reported that the business group now totals fifty members, and that nearly forty places of business marked the George Washington Bi-Centennial last month with a co-operative and interesting patriotic display that was the most outstanding on the Main Line.

A special meeting of storekeepers is planned for the near future, it was announced, to discuss merchandising plans. Business people interested in utilizing vacant stores for window displays are invited to communicate with Mr. Dunne, other members of the Executive Board, or local real estate firms.

It was decided to meet regularly at the Arcadia Restaurant the third Wednesday of each month, at 1.30 P. M., preceded by luncheon.

At Wednesday's meeting Chester P. Cook gave a talk in which he deplored "a tendency which in recent years has been apparent in the minds of many Narberth residents, to regard the business section as existing apart from the town. It serves the town, fills a real need here, and deserves a better understanding."

The suggestion was also made by Mr. Cook that, in view of the importance of the business section as an integral part of the community, it might be well to have it represented on the Borough Council.

MacAdams Reappointed

Rev. Samuel MacAdams was reappointed pastor of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church by the Philadelphia Conference on Monday. No changes were made in Main Line Methodist churches.

Goes Ranching

George B. Maguire, Grayling avenue, Narberth, is on his way with three friends to work on a ranch in Nevada. He left here early last week for Florida by motor and last Saturday left Fernando, Fla., for a trip west that includes visits at New Orleans and other principal cities of the South and Southwest.

Will Head Rotarians

J. BEDFORD WOOLEY of Wynnewood, an architect, who was this week chosen president of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club.

Chinese Brain Power Stressed in Club Talk

Are Original in Thought, Says Haverford School Instructor at Junior Club

HEAR MUSICAL PROGRAM

The Junior Community Club held a supper-meeting last Thursday evening at the clubroom, Community Building. After the supper additional members and guests arrived to attend the regular meeting, presided over by the president, Mrs. Ellsworth Clark. Mrs. Cornish, the county chairman of Juniors, was among the guests and addressed the girls, telling of the Montgomery county rally which she is sponsoring on Monday evening, March 28, at which the Bala-Cynwyd Juniors will act as hostesses, the meeting to take place in their clubhouse.

The speaker was Leslie R. Severinghaus, instructor at Haverford School, who, with graphic drawings on a blackboard, went into an intimate discussion of the Chinese language, illustrating the intricate and very interesting formation of the Chinese characters, or word pictures. Mr. Severinghaus, having lived in China several years, was able to give a very complete picture of its cities and rural districts, describing the different types as represented by the northern and the southern Chinese. The Chinese, said Mr. Severinghaus, are exceedingly original in thought and are well able to think out solutions to their own problems, and, although they are of a very retiring and unaggressive nature, they are able to use their brains successfully to meet a situation which they deem of sufficient importance to spend the time upon. Comparing their characteristics with the Japanese, Mr. Severinghaus said that the Japanese were excellent imitators, but not such successful originators of ideas as their Chinese neighbors.

Miss Margaret Kent, who introduced the speaker, also thanked him on behalf of the girls, who demonstrated their interest in the subject of China by playing Mr. Severinghaus with numerous questions at the termination of his talk.

Miss Virginia Steinfeld, chairman of music, then took charge of the program, introducing John Wesley Young, blind Wayne composer, who played Mendelssohn's "Rondo Capriccioso," Debussy's "Caprice" and his

Many People Merely "Window Shopping" in Life, Says Keighton at Special Service

That many people are merely "window shopping" in life and that there is a "price tag" on everything in the world were points stressed by the Rev. Robert E. Keighton, in the course of a special service for the James C. Simpson Men's Association and the Narberth Boys' Club last Sunday.

Mr. Keighton said in part: "There is an Old Testament story of David's attempt to make amends for a sin against God. He sought to buy from Ornah a site for an altar. Ornah generously offered to give him not only the site, but also oxen for the burnt offering, threshing instruments for wood and wheat for cereal offering. What generosity! Yet David chose rather to buy these things, saying, 'I will not take what is yours for God, nor will I offer as a sacrifice what has cost me nothing!'"

"We modern Christians are much more like that man told of in Isaiah, who cut down a tree, used part of the

Registration Bureau to Open on Monday

Movement to Aid Employment in Borough Will Get Underway

GROUPS CO-OPERATING

A movement to aid employment in the Borough will get under way Monday morning when a registration office will be opened in the Legion Room of the Community Building on Windsor avenue.

At this headquarters all men who are willing to do general work of all kinds are invited to register. The registration will be in charge of women of the Community Club and the hours are from 10 A. M. to 4 P. M.

The purpose of this registration is to provide as much unskilled work for the needy unemployed as possible.

Those sponsoring the movement hope to give anyone willing to work an opportunity to earn money without discrimination due to their regular occupation.

People who want odd jobs done can communicate with the registration office by calling Narberth 2329 and reliable and trustworthy persons will be supplied.

It is also hoped that residents will be encouraged to do whatever repairs, renovations and alterations they may consider necessary or desirable so as to stimulate work for the skilled workers of the Borough. All this will benefit the business men by raising purchasing power and putting more money into circulation.

No charge will be made for registration nor placing workers. Unskilled workers will be available at 45 to 50 cents per hour and skilled

Helene Diedrichs to Be Orchestra Soloist

Outstanding Exponent of Mathey Method to Appear Play Sunday

SWANN, VOGEL TO LEAD

Miss Helene Diedrichs, of Boston, one of the outstanding exponents of the Mathey method of piano playing, will be the guest soloist at the third concert of the season of the Main Line Orchestra to be given at the Ardmore Theatre on Sunday night.

Miss Diedrichs, who was born in England, and has appeared with many of the leading orchestras there, will play Caesar Franck's Symphonic Variations with the orchestra.

An innovation at this concert will be the appearance of Dr. W. F. G. Swann, associate conductor of the Orchestra, on the conductor's stand in directing Beethoven's Leonore Overture. This will be the first time in the Orchestra's ten years' history that Adolph Vogel, the conductor, has not handled every concert in its entirety.

Mr. Vogel will conduct the other numbers on the program, which will include the following: Haydn's Surprise Symphony, Franck's Symphonic Variations for Piano and Orchestra, Debussy's Arabesque No. 1 and Gollwog's Cake Walk, and the Dance Baccanale by Saint-Saens.

One of the largest playing groups in its history will represent the Orchestra at this concert.

Judging from the advance demand for tickets a large audience will be in attendance.

Excessive Loans Helped Wreck Merion Title, Inventory Shows

Officers and Directors of Closed Institution and Real Estate Promoters Figure Prominently in Large List of Borrowers

Real estate promoters, borrowers taking advantage of favored positions and manipulators, whose transactions are still shrouded in mystery, contributed to the failure of the Merion Title and Trust Company.

Beyond doubt this is written into the report of the Main Line Depositors Committee.

Men prominent in civic and governmental affairs of the Main Line are linked with the Merion Title loan system in the supplementary report of the Depositors' Committee released this week, based on the State Banking Department's inventory. In one form or another virtually all of these men dabbled in real estate.

J. J. Dougherty, a Sixty-ninth Street promoter, is listed in the supplementary report as the individual receiving the greatest amount in loans from the Merion Title and Trust Company. His total amount is $408,935.07. It is appraised at $35,000 in the State Banking Department inventory.

The largest company or corporation loan went to the Merion Construction Company. The total of loans to this company was $446,160.72. No value is rated on this loan.

Among the officers and directors of the bank, Richard J. Hamilton is credited with the largest amount of loans totaling $170,145, with an appraised value of $2712.15. Mr. Hamilton is a director on the Lower Merion School Board and president of the Ardmore Chamber of Commerce.

Dreamers Who Walk Make Visions Real

Many Great Men Seen as Dreamers by W. Russell Green in Talk at Club

MRS. GRIEST WAS SOLOIST

"Dreamers who walk," said W. Russell Green, speaker at the Woman's Community Club of Narberth on Tuesday afternoon, "are not those who spend their lives in dreaming impossible things, but the dreamers who accomplish something."

"Ever since the beginning of man," said Mr. Green, "there have been dreamers who have seen their dreams come true. Ever since the time of Joseph, who as far as we know was one of the first dreamers who walked, the great mass of unseeing people have looked upon these dreamers with scorn. George Washington, too, was another of these dreamers who walked, and who lived to see many of his dreams come true. Others were Benjamin Franklin, Thomas A. Edison, and a long list of scientists, inventors and other professional men. Russell H. Conwell had his visions, for when building his great church, he provided a door in an upper hall, which he promised at some time would be the link between a great university and a church. This dream has come true."

"Many of these dreamers who have built up civilization by their dreams have come from obscure places. The woman's clubs have also been classed among the dreamers who walked, and have also had many of their dreams realized, judging by the results of their efforts in many fields. In all clubs, both men's and women's, team work is always necessary, therefore it is often necessary to sacrifice some of our dreams to those of others. Of course we all hate to do this, for one can never tell just what the results of these dreams will be. One must not simply dream, but must work to accomplish them." According to Mr. Green, the women's organizations have something on the men when it comes to working out their dreams.

Mr. Green decried the sensationalism of the press and the amount of publicity given to the various murder cases. However, he claimed there must be a reason for this, and that was that the great reading public demanded it.

"Today," the speaker said, "we need more dreamers who love their country and who will not only dream, but think and plan to relieve some of the present conditions. There are many people to discourage the dreamer, but the true dreamer never lets this discourage him and goes on with his

Former Narberth Druggist Passed Away Last Friday

Services were held on Monday from the Frankfield Funeral Home, Ardmore, for Arndt K. Housekeeper, for many years the proprietor of a drug store in Narberth, who died at his home in Gulph Mills last Friday.

Mr. Housekeeper opened his drug store in the borough about 1897, on Haverford avenue, later moving to Forest avenue, in the building now occupied by Adelizzi Brothers, and then across the street next to the firehouse. He maintained his store here until about 10 years ago, when he moved to Gulph Mills.

He is survived by two daughters, Elizabeth Housekeeper, of Gulph Mills, and Mrs. Alma Lamon, of Conshohocken.

Not for a Million Dollars

THE train swung around a curve. You can always spot the seasoned traveler, thought Clifford Burns, admiring his companion's deftness.

The older man paused in his packing and smiled. "I'll be glad to get home. Three weeks on the road this trip," he said to Burns. "Not that I haven't been home every night," he added with a chuckle. "Home every night!" Burns exclaimed. "Yes, sir! The minute the clock strikes 8:30, home I go by telephone. The whole family's waiting—I wouldn't miss it—not for a million dollars! Take it as a tip from an old drummer."

"You're right," said Burns. "I will, and thanks!" mentally adding, "Yes, you can always spot the seasoned traveler!"

BY TELEPHONE you can reach home more than a hundred miles away for 65 cents—after 8:30 P. M. for only 40 cents.

As I grow older it is natural for me to pause and review the things that have vitalized this business for over eighteen years. In doing this, I am reminded of George Horace Lorimer's words: "It's good to have money and the things that money can buy, but it's good, too, to check up once in a while and make sure you haven't lost the things that money can't buy."

In business there is an element known as good-will. Our Supreme Court has given this definition of it: "Good-will is the disposition of the customer to return to the place she has been well served."

I thought, when I read this, that our friends who have not seen it might like to know it too: The disposition of the customer to return to the place where he or she has been well served.

To me it is a big sentence; it describes completely what every business man hopes to attain, if his ambitions are based upon a sincere elevation of his standards.

I like to look over the orders when they come in—and the happiest feeling I have is the pleasure of meeting you face to face and reading the names—many of them—of old friends who "return to the place where they have been well served."

More Bank Facts

In this issue there is published a substantial part of the State's appraisal of the assets of the Merion Title and Trust Company, as interpreted by the Depositors' Committee. We draw no conclusions from the individual loans and mortgages appraised by the Banking Department, nor do we take it upon ourselves to place blame upon any individual. The list, however, as an example of bad banking practice, is colossal and shocking.

Without detailed explanation, it is difficult to understand the reason for many of the low valuations placed upon the various assets. When the obligation rests upon a person of known integrity and substantial affairs—as many of these loans do—some of the blame no doubt falls on business conditions.

The fact, however, that a tremendous part of this great loss is due to large loans to real estate operators, is something which every citizen and every other banker might well observe. If we assume that in no case was there any dishonesty, no personal gain at the expense of the bank, we are left with the conclusion that the bank was made a joint speculator, standing to join in no profits, but to bear most of the losses.

Certainly a situation such as is revealed by the published list is a clear demonstration of where the shoals are located. No one in the Merion Title, when loans were made on visionary and inflated properties, seems to have heard the old adage: "Everything which goes up must come down."

But there is a conclusion still more important which may be drawn from all this: Very few of these headaches appear to be due to legitimate business advances to the community as a whole; very few to loans made to organizations and municipal bodies; very few, in brief, to items which support the usual small bank. And yet, very few years ago, the Merion Title and Trust Company paid large dividends. Today, in the face of bad times, other Main Line banks are making good money in legitimate and conservative banking.

Excepting for the work of the salvage crew, the past is gone. Indignation at the death of the Merion Title will not make a new bank. The task for the future, and it must not be delayed, is the formation of a substantial community bank for Ardmore, to cater to the large amount of honest, conservative banking business which is available. This new bank need not gamble in real estate to make money, nor lend its funds to relatives and friends of the officers. Such a new bank can make very good money, and at the same time lift the very dark clouds which hang over the future of the Main Line.

A Warning on Relief

Appeals for aid for the needy unemployed, will, no doubt be heartily backed by residents of Lower Merion Township, especially for the less fortunate of our Township who are unemployed, but we believe the residents of the Township should be warned of the many organizations who are soliciting funds for purposes other than the aid of the unemployed.

In order, therefore, that the residents may be protected from these "racketeers and panhandlers," it is our desire to let them know that the Lower Merion Police Department is taking every step possible to keep them out of the Township. There are many organizations claiming religious connections to aid them in their solicitations and according to State Law, the Police Department cannot stop them until they become obnoxious, or it is proven the funds are used for other purposes, which is a long and tedious procedure. We do wish to state, however, that the Main Line Federation of Churches does look after the needs of the people in this district, the proceeds being properly distributed.

Shreds and Patches

Mail Time

During those times when the Vagrant is obliged to remain in one place for any considerable length of time, which of itself is always irksome, there is nothing that then contributes to his satisfaction more than the daily visits of the postman, especially the first call about breakfast time. The more he brings the better The Vagrant likes it. Eagerly he takes the pile of mail and seeks out a quiet spot where, with a formidable letter-opener, he can commune with the thoughts of those who seek his attention, even his patronage, on a bright, new morning. Given time enough, The Vagrant will putter mentally even with the most crude and blatant advertising appeals, provided they have come by mail and were not thrown on his doorstep. And as for communications from friends, his prompt and eager replies must be a source of dismay, for it is seldom possible for them to have the satisfaction of thinking that he owes them a letter. Letter opening time of the day is one period when The Vagrant would rather be silent than talking, an inconsistency in his temperament which La Vagante, in spite of these years and years of constant association, never seems to have learned.

Yokels vs. New York

Included among the letters which came to The Vagrant last week was a private communication from Washington predicting that the Administration would encourage an investigation of the recent short-selling practices on the New York Stock Exchange. The Vagrant's correspondent says that the motives behind that decision are principally political, for ears-to-the-ground professionals have stated in party councils that an outstanding force in the public sentiment of the great American hinterland is almost universal hostility toward the stock market and New York financial practices. These political dopesters say that no man who is in any way allied to Wall Street can be elected President this year, and that to win the election it is necessary to take a crack at New York. Undoubtedly any such investigation as that which is proposed will unearth much scandal, and while The Vagrant has no objection to seeing any bloated ox being gored, still he is inclined to think that such a development will certainly not be conducive to that restoration of public and business confidence for which the President has professedly been so solicitous, nor will a campaign appeal, based upon the natural vindictiveness of a lot of western yokels, who are now smarting over their speculative losses, be likely to get the country or Hoover himself anywhere in the long run.

Paradox

Also included in last week's batch of mail was an appeal from the U. S. Army Information Service asking The Vagrant if he would not make it known to his readers that the citizens' training camps provide for rank-and-file young men in only 30 brief days exactly that training which is required to fit them for important, executive positions in big business. It may be that the drill-sergeant method is the proper way to train business executives, but if that is so, isn't it strange that with the ranks of business filled these many years with graduates of the Great War there should be now such a paucity of executive leadership; that the U. S. Army Information Service should have written in its circular letter of March 10th, "From the smallest possible business to the great national and international mergers of Big Business comes today a universal and crying need—Give us loyal employees; give us young men who can assume responsibility!" It's strange, isn't it?

Old Age Security

The Pennsylvania Committee for Old Age Security was also numbered among those who contributed to The Vagrant's pile of mail during the past week. They would appreciate an extensive mention of themselves and their aims in this column, and they shall have at least this paragraph, God bless them! They are seeking support for the proposed amendment to the state constitution by which the power of the Legislature to deal with the aged poor may be enlarged. The gentle readers of this column, 90 per cent. of them, at least, have all seen their savings for old age seriously impaired and lost during the recent past. Some of those losses have been incurred through institutions which were chartered and regularly examined by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It would have been better had that money gone to paying taxes to accumulate a state-guaranteed old-age security. The state must either give us such security or take long and drastic steps toward reforming those private institutions which it sanctions for the custody of our private accumulations for old age.

THE VAGRANT.

The Grand Old Party

To the Editor of Our Town:

Here we are three months along in a Presidential year and it is high time that the people of Narberth began to take some thought of political affairs and of their own responsibilities pertaining thereto. For reasons best known to themselves an overwhelming majority of the people of this borough have enrolled themselves as members of the Republican party and the present writer will assume therefore that he is addressing voters who are by free choice members of that political persuasion. If any of the borough's few hundred Democrats and even both of our socialists care to glance at this strictly Republican discussion, it certainly will do them no harm and it thereby even one of those brands should be snatched from the burning, so much the better for the cause of good government, as we see it.

Here we are then, all members of the Grand Old Party which since the days of the sainted Lincoln has almost always been favored with the national mandate of the American people. No American who is proud of the present place of his country in world affairs, who takes pride in American institutions as they exist today, can exclude from the record the constructive achievements of the dominant political party of the past 70 years. The Republican party has demonstrated a capacity to govern, an ability to get things done, to accept and successfully discharge responsibility. All that has been accomplished through organization and discipline.

The voters of Narberth, however, have frequently, in fact, almost habitually, been induced to cast their votes in favor of disorganization. Vigor of opinion and intelligent interest in voting are qualities of citizenship which no one can criticize adversely, but insurrection, in order to justify itself must accomplish something. Independence that is chronic and personal and always futile, has no justification whatsoever in the eyes of thoughtful citizens. The so-called independents of Narberth usually are opposed to the County Organization, which is headed by Mr. Charles Johnson. They have been belaboring Mr. Johnson and all his works for years and, on the whole, the Republicans of Narberth have given them pretty consistent support. What has that kind of voting accomplished for the people of Narberth as good Republicans, as citizens and as taxpayers? Nothing.

Is there any satisfaction for Narberth Republicans to be able to think that practically every Republican office holder in the county and some in the state and nation, are now in office in spite of the votes of Narberth? Does that make the Narberth man feel any better when he writes to his representatives in Harrisburg or Washington, and inscribes the name of this borough at the top of his letterhead? When on his legitimate occasions he needs to go to the seat of county authority at Norristown does he find that his inescapable Narberth label is helpful? But, you say, if his occasions are legitimate he has a citizen's right to be considered regardless of political affiliations. That is true and at Norristown no man has been deprived of courteous consideration because of independent voting by his community, yet it is entirely right and proper, as political party management goes, that some memory should linger, some slight regret should be felt toward those people who always turn a cold shoulder toward the party organization and who, year after year, follow some self-seeking will of the wisp outside of the reservation.

Here is a significant thing for the Republicans of Narberth to consider. The independents as a group never make any attempt to enter the campaigns for strictly local offices. They know that the Narberth electorate, when it is completely informed regarding candidates and issues, as is always the case in campaigns for Council and the School Board, will always decide the issue on its merits and that any attempt to create a bogey man, to frighten the voters, would end in utter failure. There are two men holding strictly local offices who are usually classified as belonging to the Stites faction. Each has been elected to his office on his merits, and since they are, after all, brother Republicans, it is not our desire to question their merits. We can point out, however, that neither of them knows from experience what it is to seek his local office against an opposing candidate. If they chronically lend their names and their voices to the opposition in all contests outside of the borough, why would not the Organization be justified some time in putting up a good local man against them for a strictly local office? This is no no threat. The writer is not on the county board of strategy. The only question which he wishes to leave in the minds of Narberth Republicans is this: What have you accomplished in personal satisfaction, or for your town or your party in the county, state and nation by voting with the the independents?

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Laying or Lying

Our little comment on the hen, dumbest of all the barnyard animals, caused Mr. J. C. Taney, treasurer of the Autocar Company, to tell us he had just heard that someone asked Calvin Coolidge which was regarded as correct usage in New England—to say "The hen is laying" or "The hen is lying." The close-lipped Yankee sage is said to have replied, "We pick up the hen." This tersely brings out the point which we, much more clumsily, were trying to make, and that is that not all cacklings mean fresh-laid eggs.

"Dance Team," "Mata Hari," "Free Soul," "Ben Hur" at Narberth Theatre

Lovable, human, interesting, is "Dance Team," an appealing new film starring James Dunn and Sally Eilers, of "Bad Girl" fame. It's at the Narberth Theatre this week-end, including Saturday matinee.

First chapter of "The Lightning Warrior," featuring Rin Tin Tin, the wonder dog, will be shown this Saturday matinee at the Narberth Theatre at the same time that the last chapter will be shown of "The Vanishing Legion."

Quite an interesting and well-filmed story of a war-time spy is "Mata Hari," in which Greta Garbo, Ramon Novarro, Lewis Stone and Lionel Barrymore will appear at Narberth next Monday and Tuesday.

One of the best pictures in 1931 is "A Free Soul," with its dramatic court-room scene, starring Lionel Barrymore, and its love and gangster scenes, starring Norma Shearer and Clark Gable. It will play in Narberth next Wednesday and Thursday.

For Good Friday night and the following day, the management has secured the talking version of "Ben Hur," tale of early Christianity, in which Ramon Novarro starred.

Fun Program at Egyptian Theatre This Week-end

Sylvia Sidney, the new screen find, gives a good performance in "Ladies of the Big House," at the Egyptian next Monday and Tuesday. Raymond Massey, who played "Hamlet" in this country last season, stars in the exciting Sherlock Holmes thriller, "The Speckled Band," coming to Cynwyd Wednesday and Thursday. Also programmed is Crooner Bing Crosby in a comedy. Comedians Wheeler and Woolsey and Dorothy Lee are booked in "Peach O'Reno" for next week-end.

Musical Comedy & Gymnastics Feature Jr. High Parents' Nites

On Thursday and Friday evenings of this week the faculty and students of Lower Merion Junior High School will observe their annual Parents' Night program. Last night's performance was for the lower class boys and girls and their parents, while the performance this evening will be for the upper class boys and girls and their parents.

The program consists of two parts, the first devoted to gymnastic exercises, while the second is a musical comedy, "Paints and Patches." The gym teams are displaying a fine selection of stunts this season, and the girls' dance teams are unusually colorful.

The musical comedy is a rollicking story of art students and gypsies with an intermingling of policemen, Chinese princesses, sheriffs and a black man named Rastus. Rastus is "de man of all work" and doesn't like it, but he makes the audience like it, and plenty. The musical numbers are good, and the specialty dance numbers add to the program. Miss Mary Collins, vocal music director, was in charge of the presentation. Kenneth Markley furnished the instrumental numbers.

Narberth Girl Scout Troop No. 8

A special meeting of the patrol leaders was called by Mrs. Crowell, Scout captain, to talk over plans of Scouting. This was held at the home of Mrs. Crowell on Friday, March 11. The weekly meeting of the Girl Scouts was held on March 15 at 7 o'clock. The meeting was opened in a formal manner, after which patrol corners and games took place. The classes in nature study are progressing very rapidly, as also are the new Scouts who are working on the tenderfoot tests.

Griswold Protests at Council Over Manner of Displacement

In reply to his request Council indicated that Clarence Kaerber, chairman of the Finance Committee, would be the logical member of its body to consult with Mr. White, and after the meeting Messrs. White and Kaerber were seen in consultation.

In the discussion which ensued among members of Council, regret that the County authorities had not seen fit to reappoint Mr. Griswold and satisfaction with his work as Assessor was expressed.

The following resolution, presented by Mr. Kaerber, was unanimously adopted:

"WHEREAS, Council has been advised that Mr. Edward C. Griswold, who has faithfully and efficiently served the Borough of Narberth for four years as Real Estate Assessor has been removed from office by new legislation; and

"WHEREAS, it is felt by Council that the service rendered by Mr. Griswold was so notable that public recognition should be given; therefore

"BE IT RESOLVED, that we express to Mr. Griswold our sincere appreciation for his four years of splendid service in equalizing the assessments of the Borough and that a copy of this resolution be sent to him."

In the course of the discussion Councilman Robert F. Wood pointed out that a new state law had taken the power of choosing assessors from the electorate and given it to the County authorities. "It might have been the friendly thing," he said, "if the County Commissioners had consulted us over the appointment of a new assessor, but we have no reason to assume that Mr. White won't make a good one." He further suggested that the matter indicated Council might well be more active in the political affairs of the Borough. "It is as much up to us as anyone else," he said.

The displacement of Mr. Griswold was viewed as retribution by the County organization for his participation in last Fall's political campaign on behalf of the Boyd group.

"You can't hunt with the hounds and run with the hares," Mr. Wood said. "I for one am sick of going to Norristown to seek things for Narberth after the voters have poked the organization in the nose."

President of Council Daniel Leitch stated his view that "if you don't vote straight you can't expect the organization to do anything for you. Anything we have gotten from the County for the Borough has come in a roundabout way." As Mr. Wood phrased this point, "We have had to become a step child of Pete Hess." (Mr. Hess, Lower Merion Township Treasurer, is the acknowledged organization leader for the Main Line section of Montgomery County.)

Disagreement with the views of these Councilmen was expressed by Burgess Henry A. Frye, who stated that in his opinion Narberth was accomplishing just as much by keeping Borough affairs out of politics.

Notification of the appointment of Mr. White as Assessor was made in the following letter to Charles V. Noel, secretary of Council, from the County Commissioners, William D. Ridgeway, H. Stanley Drake and Grover C. Albright.

"This is to advise you that the County Commissioners have recommended to the Board of Assessments and Revision of Taxes the appointment of Joseph White as Real Estate Assessor in the Borough of Narberth. "We trust you will give him all the co-operation possible in his official duties."

own "Berceuse." He played several popular songs, gave a demonstration of reading telephone dialing by hearing the clicks of a portable instrument and also accompanied Thomas A. Elwood, baritone of All Saints Church Choir, who sang Mr. Young's "Awake, My Love" and "Slumber On."

The next meeting, Thursday evening, March 24, will be a social one, to which members of both the Bala-Cynwyd and Ardmore Juniors have been invited. Mrs. James D. Moore is planning the program, and an enjoyable evening is anticipated, as the reciprocity idea has been very helpful in stimulating interest among the girls of our neighboring communities. The chairman of finance, Miss Alberta Davis, has a full program planned for the months ahead. On March 28 another of the very popular subscription card parties will take place at the home of Miss Margaret Livingston, on Chestnut avenue. This is open to everyone, and many take advantage of the Juniors' hospitality to entertain one or two tables of their own guests in this delightful manner.

April 23 the Juniors will sponsor a spring dance, under the finance committee, which will be held in the American Legion rooms of the Community Building. This is the first dance the Juniors have had for the past two seasons, and the committee is planning to make it just as attractive and delightful as possible. A good orchestra, fine floor, cozy surroundings—what more could anyone ask?—so "date up" a partner and dance with the Juniors on the 23d! The funds collected will go to the benefit of Braille work—a worthy cause!

Other card parties are planned and will be announced later; also a big mother-and-daughter evening will be held in honor of Mother's Day. The Juniors are busy these days, having a great deal of fun—and helping others to have it, too.

Main Line Store
As Guide

"Waistlines are higher this season"—but women continue to move them up and down until they reach the most becoming location.

Shoulders are broader—to make waists appear smaller by contrast.

Stylists call it a military effect—but to women it is just a smart new and different fashion.

Blue has fairly taken the feminine world by the ears—it's Spring's own color, too.

Lace has regained its popularity of pre-war days—but it's not nearly so expensive.

The cape is the latest version of the jacket—and nearly every costume has a jacket.

Flowers have returned to Millinery—singly and en masse.

The sweater is the darling of the hour—you cannot have too many.

The lingerie influence is so pronounced that a woman doesn't feel dressed up at all, without a bib and tucker, a frill or a ruffle, a bow, or a tab or a floating end of washable material at neck and cuffs.

The Scarf is the most fashion-important dress accessory of the season—any way you wear it, it's smart.

These and all the other fashions you want to know about before Easter, are shown in your Main Line Store.

"The Crucifixion to Be Given at Narberth Lutheran Church"

The Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Woodbine and Narberth avenues, Narberth, will observe Good Friday with the rendition of Stainer's "The Crucifixion," the most spiritually impressive and poignantly beautiful setting for the tragedy on Calvary. In this sacred cantata are depicted the loneliness of Jesus in the Garden of Gethsemane, the trial before Pilate; the pomp and the merciless scorn of the Processional to Calvary; the majesty of the Divine humiliation of the Son of God on the Cross, sublime and more than kingly in His meekness; the Divine petition of Christ's intercession—"Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do;" the agony of Jesus on the Cross—"My God, My God, why hast Thou forsaken me?" and the appeal of the Crucified—"Oh, perishing souls, is it nothing to you that My blood is shed!"

The entire service Friday evening, March 25, 8.00 P. M., will be devoted to "The Crucifixion," the congregation assisting in the many beautiful hymns interspersed throughout the cantata. The choir of the church will be augmented by the addition of several voices in the beautiful male quartette portions. The tenor recitative and solo selections will be rendered by the church tenor, Milton R. Mackell, and the guest bass soloist will be Samuel H. MacLaughlin. Margaret Squier, organist-director, has chosen Beethoven's somber Funeral March from the Sonata in A-Flat for the organ prelude in this impressive service.

The public is cordially invited to participate in this service of commemoration.

Give Supper Tonight

The Fairview Sunday School is holding a get-together supper at the School this Friday evening.

Start Seeds Now Under Glass for Early Garden

If one is desirous of having an early flower garden now is the time to start the seeds, says W. O. Hird, of I. N. Simon & Son, Philadelphia. Coldframes, hotbeds or seed boxes, placed in front of a cellar window, can be used to advantage. Use a mixture of good garden soil, to which has been added a liberal quantity of sand. This will insure perfect drainage and prevent the young seedlings from damping off. Care should be taken not to sow the seeds too deep, the general rule being three times their own depth, and in the case of small seeds, simply press them into the soil, shading them with newspapers until the seeds have germinated. Sow thinly and when the seedlings are large enough to handle, transplant, giving the plants sufficient room to allow for proper development.

Do not over-water, and on warm sunny days plenty of ventilation should be given. Among the Annuals that should be started early are Scarlet Sage, Verbena, Petunias (the large flowering varieties), Stocks, Lantana, Snapdragons, Ageratum, Phlox Drummondii, Asters (the early varieties), Carnation, Marguerite, Vinca, Lobelia, Alyssum, Chienranthus (the Siberian Wallflower), Cynoglossum or Chinese Forget-Me-Not and Zinnias. Viola and Pansy, if started early, will bloom the same season, and Delphinium if sown early under glass will produce plants that will bloom in the fall. Dahlia seed may also be started under glass.

The Coltness Hybrids, a new miniature variety, is a splendid plant for beds or borders, growing only 18 inches high and producing an abundance of miniature single blooms in various colors, while the double and Cactus varieties, if sown early under glass, will produce large flowers in the late summer and fall.

By ROBERT J. EDGAR

Palm Sunday. The first day of spring.

Calendar spring, but not the gardener's spring.

About April 15 is the average date of safety from the last frost.

Lawns may be rolled with a full water roller. About March 21st to 31st is a good time. Some hardware shops rent rollers.

The bluebird was right on time, March 13. This is the day, according to the Delaware Valley Ornithological Club, that the blue flash is first seen in this section.

Among the trees that have not proven satisfactory is the Norway maple. A large percentage of these trees develop girdling roots, which are not discovered until the tree has been half killed. The Norway grows quickly, but it is practically impossible to grow anything under it on account of its surface rooting habit and the too dense shade of its heavy foliage. In moist, warm springs the aphid pest, with its sticky honey dew and sooty mold, is found only on the Norway maple.

Time to get the bird houses up in a hurry. Our summer birds will soon be with us. And what is also important, to the birds, is a supply of drinking—and bathing—water. And don't make a bird trap by placing the bird bath low and convenient for skulking cats.

A beautiful and interesting tree is the yellow-wood. It is from the South and in June bears panicles of fragrant white flowers. A handsome specimen is in the Zoological Gardens. The label says—Cladrastis lutea.

One of the most beautiful shade trees is the linden or basswood—tilia americana. The fragrant, cream-colored flowers are feasts for bees. Unfortunately the linden, like the elm, is food for the Japanese beetle. Some of these days the beetle will have gone, and then we plant lindens, elms, dwarf horse chestnut, mountain ash, pussy willows and sassafras.

When we asked where that delicious honey came from we were informed that it was from North Carolina and was gathered after the bees had feasted on the flowers of nyssa sylvatica, the sour gum, black gum or tupelo tree. Call it what you will, it is a wonderful tree. Some honey! Pepperidge is another name for the sour gum tree.

Well! We're going to do it! We're going to say something that may get us into trouble, but it has to come out. Over-emphasis on table decorations, and arrangements in general, at flower shows. Interior decorating and art are fine in their respective places. The use of garden flowers in the house, color harmony—or contrast, receptacles and the fittings that go with them are a part of the homemaker's and gardenmaker's life. But when one who is not a gardener, does her gardening in the florist's ice box, and has ample funds to provide the table setting, can be lauded as a gardener—it is a bit too much. The growing of flowers, and using them in arrangements, seems perfectly a part of the flower show business. Let us call the interior decorating with florist's flowers something else—it is surely not gardening. But—perhaps it does not pretend to be.

Wm. L. Austin Funeral Was Held on Monday

Former Township School Board Head Died After Brief Illness

60 YEARS AT BALDWIN'S

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon for William Liseter Austin, for 18 years a member of the Lower Merion School Board, from his late residence, "Liseter Hall," Ithan avenue and Gulph road, Rosemont.

Mr. Austin died last Thursday night of heart attack after an illness of but two days. He was in his eightieth year.

Dr. Andrew Mutch, pastor of the Bryn Mawr Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Austin was an elder, officiated at the services. He was assisted by the Rev. Alexander McColl, of Philadelphia, and the Rev. J. Jarden Guenther, of Swarthmore.

Honorary Pall bearers included many close associates in his long business and civic career. They were: George H. Huston, Samuel M. Vauclain, Thomas S. Gates, William P. Gest, J. Harrison Kerst, Harry Gleazer, Robert McConnell, Archie Stevenson, Arthur W. Sewell, John P. Sykes, Hugh McCloy, Everett E. Burlingame, S. E. Downs, Francis Bracken, R. P. C. Sanderson, Sidney F. Tyler, Sidney L. Hutchinson, G. Dawson Coleman and Thomas Newhall.

Burial was at West Laurel Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Austin is survived by his widow and six children: William L. Austin, Jr., of New York City; Miss Rebecca J. Austin and Miss Anna A. Austin, both of Rosemont; Mrs. Bernard Todd Converse, of Rosemont; Mrs. Harry Pollard Converse, of Louisville, Ky.; and Mrs. William duPont, Jr., of Newtown Square.

Born in Philadelphia, September 22, 1852, Mr. Austin was educated in the public schools of the city. After working in a Patent office in Philadelphia for a year when 16, he was with the Kensington Steam Engine Works for a time, then entered the employ of the Baldwin Locomotive Works in 1870. He served Baldwin's successively as draughtsman, designer, engineer and vice-president, becoming president in 1910-11, and chairman of the Board the following year. He then remained as a director until 1930, rounding out a connection of 60 years with the firm.

Mr. Austin was elected to the Lower Merion School Board in 1913 and was chosen president of the Board in 1919, a post he was re-elected to regularly until his retirement from the Board last December.

Township's Friendly Action Saves Boro Large Expense

The report of the Highway and Sewer Committee of the Narberth Borough Council, as submitted by its chairman, Robert F. Wood, at the March meeting of Council on Monday night, follows:

"A total of $584 was expended for labor in the Highway Department during the month of February. There were no expenditures for materials. The principal labor items were $487, which was the cost of collecting 1038 cubic yards of ashes and rubbish, and $23.20 for street cleaning.

"During February the main sewer on Conway avenue became clogged, causing sewage to back up through the lateral and into the cellar of Mr. Victor D. Abel, of 18 Narberth Park. This condition had previously occurred last fall, and we thought that we had remedied it by rodding that sewer. As soon as Mrs. Abel reported the condition on their premises we sent two of our men to clean up and fumigate their cellar. In view of the fact that our own equipment was obviously inadequate to bring about a permanent remedy of this situation, it seemed as though we might be compelled to make extensive excavations in Conway avenue. We learned, however, that the township owns a sewer-cleaning apparatus, and that they were willing to rent it to us at the rate of $36 per day, which included the use of the apparatus and the gang of township men who operate it.

"This sewerage cleaning machine was put to work on Conway avenue early the next morning and completed the job of scraping out the sewer during that day. In addition to a large number of willow tree roots, the scraping disclosed 16 four-foot sewer rods, which had evidently been in there for a very long time.

"The prompt and friendly co-operation of Mr. Evan James, the Township Manager, should be made a part of this report. It saved the borough large expense and enabled us to provide immediate and permanent relief for the Abel family. We considered the possibility of the purchase of similar equipment, but your chairman has been assured by Mr. James that the township would always be willing to co-operate with us in a time of similar need. Therefore, since such emergencies have very seldom arisen in the past, we think it is better to rent the township apparatus, if and when needed."

L. M. High School Notes

By BILL MACAN

It appears that this was rather a quiet week around school, after the slight vacation for institute week. However, the plans for the senior trip to Washington are coming to a head. At a class meeting last Wednesday Mr. Gilbert gave the plans for the trip, and pictures of Washington were exhibited. As the matter has been left in the hands of the parents, a strong plea was made for the prompt return of the cards sent to them to show their opinions. As yet only 84 of the 240 cards sent have been returned. The object of the cards is to find out whether or not the parents deem it wise to have the trip this year and, if so, to find the preference of traveling by bus or train. Either way, the plans are by far the most elaborate since the inauguration of the trip.

The Suburban High School Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. D. M. Haupt, of Upper Darby, gave its first performance on March 11 in the Irvine Auditorium, University of Pennsylvania, as a part of the Schoolmen's Week held there last week. The program consisted of "Hungarian Dance No. 5," by Brahms; "The Overture to the Magic Flute," by Mozart; "In a Chinese Temple Garden," by Kiteley; Victor Herbert's "Il Fresco" and selections from "Nina Rosa," by Sigmond Romberg.

The publicity committee of the Bowling Green Society of the University of Pennsylvania announces its annual performance to be held March 18 and 19 in the Irvine Auditorium. A translation of the German legend "The Miracle" is this presentation. The play, the translation of which was done by Dorothy Withrow and Ruth Herzig, is being put on by the women students of the university. Tickets may be obtained at the door for 75 cents.

Virginia Asnis, a member of the Lower Merion spelling team, was rated as one of the 40 best spellers participating in the contest held by the Peirce Business School on March 12. The Lower Merion team, made up of Virginia Asnis, Elinor Schoff, Robert Van Valkenburgh, Margaret Groves and Townley Smith, came in twelfth among all the schools competing for the trophy.

Announcement was made in The Merionite that there would be no junior dance this year unless the dues from the class members were forthcoming.

Century-Old Wynnewood School Now R. E. Office

For nearly a century a Main Line landmark, the old Wynnewood School, at Hampstead road and Lancaster pike, has become the Main Line real estate headquarters of Robert J. Nash. The school was built in 1836 and rebuilt in 1878. It has been idle for years, except for a brief occupancy by the late Hugh B. Barclay as a display place for garden ware. Many times the size of the old school is Lower Merion's new Wynnewood Road School, at Haverford road.

In an attractive new dress of white and green, the building now houses a complete organization for Main Line real estate service, including appraisals, insurance and mortgages. The branch office at the Narberth station will continue, as will the main Robert J. Nash office, at 1214 Locust street, Philadelphia.

Cabrey Terms Prohibition Pervasive

J. J. Cabrey talked over WPEN on Wednesday of this week, under the auspices of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform.

Mr. Cabrey claimed that a legislative mandate such as the Eighteenth Amendment was altogether pervasive of Christian tradition and philosophy, and he stated that the extraordinary activity in its behalf on the part of certain sects could fairly be construed as an admission of their own futility in affecting the life of the people, and in insisting that the police power should supplant the forces of religion and education. Mr. Cabrey said, the church was making a capitulation which would undoubtedly be reflected in a constantly dwindling spiritual influence.

Mr. Cabrey could see no virtue or triumph, he stated, in a nation made sober as a result of the present endeavor, which he described as one born with the bar sinister and inevitably doomed to perish.

Attend Plan Presentation

Henry A. Frye represented the borough in his official capacity as Burgess at the presentation of the Tri-State Regional Plan at the Bellevue-Stratford on Wednesday night. Other Narberth residents attending were Frank A. Schrepfer, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Merrill, Philip A. Livingston, publisher of Our Town, and Allen W. Cameron.

Postpone Tree Planting

The Girl Scout bi-centennial tree planting on City Line, scheduled for this Saturday, has been indefinitely postponed on account of the inclement weather.

Legion Auxiliary Holds Well Attended Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Auxiliary of the Harold D. Speakman Post of the American Legion was held in the Legion Room, Tuesday evening.

The attendance was the best this season, as almost every active member was present, including two members from Philadelphia, Mrs. E. H. Wipf, the Eastern Director, and Mrs. Harold D. Speakman, the gold star mother for whose son the Post is named.

Committee reports were most encouraging, especially that of the membership committee, which, despite the times, indicates the membership is increasing daily. It is the Auxiliary's sincere hope that every woman in Narberth who is eligible will join the organization to help co-operate in the good work which the Legion is carrying on throughout the country, whether it be direct service to disabled veterans, his dependents, or to the community at large.

Mrs. Wipf gave a very interesting report on the National Defense Conference held in Washington the early part of February, when it was her privilege to be sent as a delegate by the County Council to represent the Eastern Section of Pennsylvania.

Mrs. Roland K. Hewitt, President of the Auxiliary, reported on the recent meetings in regard to the local drive for a campaign against Depression and each and every member pledged themselves to co-operate and assist the Post in every way possible to make this Drive a real service to the Community.

The final feature of the evening was the drawing by Mrs. Speakman, of the "Lucky Number," for which the winner, Mrs. Jules Betus, of Merion avenue, received six pairs of silk stockings. The Auxiliary wishes to thank those who aided in this affair, the proceeds of which are to go toward the replenishing of the Auxiliary's treasury.

Refreshments were served. Miss Edith Hewitt was the hostess.

State Health Worker to Address P. T. A. on Monday

The March meeting of the Narberth Parent-Teachers' Association will be held in the school auditorium Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

John G. Ziegler, supervisor of school sanitation of the State Department of Health, will speak on "The Health Factor in Modern Education."

The motion picture projector which the local P. T. A. purchased for the school will be used to show two educational films. These films will be shown to the school children in the afternoon.

The motion picture, "Sooky," with Jackie Cooper in the title role, will be given at the Narberth Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, March 30 and 31, as a benefit for the Narberth P. T. A.

Tickets may be purchased at the school or from Mrs. Samuel McCartney, 405 Woodside avenue.

Mr. Snow Honored

Edward H. Snow was elected president of the Southeastern District of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association at the recent meeting held by the Association at the Schoolmen's Week proceedings at the University of Pennsylvania. Mr. Snow, principal of Lower Merion Junior High School for the past nine years, was unaware of the honor until notified by the morning papers last Saturday. His official duties last for one year.

Sub-Juniors Postpone Meeting

The Sub-Junior Department of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth has postponed the meeting which was to have been held on Monday evening, March 21, until a later date. The Sub-Juniors will attend the meeting of the Montgomery County Juniors at the meeting of the Junior Department of the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd, on Monday evening, March 28.

Hear of March Flower

The Ardmore Nature Club held its regular luncheon meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Rehffuss, on Linwood avenue, on Monday afternoon, when a very interesting program was presented. Mrs. Chester A. Duffield read a paper on the birthstone and the flower for March. Several poems by Van Dyke were read by Mrs. Robert Kane, while Mrs. Howard Wayne Smith, read a nature story. The club will make a trip to the du Pont Gardens at Kennett Square next Tuesday.

Bake Sale Tomorrow

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Narberth Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a bake, cake and pie sale at 207 Haverford avenue this Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

New Narberth Boy Scout Troop is Officially Organized

The Narberth Boy Scout Troop No. 2 was officially enrolled in the Delaware and Montgomery Counties Council at investiture services on Friday evening, March 4.

The troop is organized with three patrols, as follows:

John Wilson, Scoutmaster; Albert Lambert and Fred Robb, assistant Scoutmasters; Charles Mason, senior patrol leader; David Wright, scribe.

Panther Patrol—Tom Dunlap, patrol leader; Peter Stam, John Stam, Donald McConnell, Walter Wood.

Bob White Patrol—Everett Shay, patrol leader; Roll Phillips, David Duncan, George Morhard, Bobby Rowley.

Owl Patrol—Clair Richardson, patrol leader; Lee Terry, Chester Tyson, Robert Haigh, Edward Bowers, David Wright.

The boys have no intention of remaining in the tenderfoot class. Charles Mason and David Wright are already second-class Scouts, and several others expect to receive their badges in this class on Friday night. There will probably be 12 or more boys ready to pass this test during the next two weeks. There is also a group of youngsters ready to pass their tenderfoot test as soon as they reach their 12th birthday.

There is plenty of work and fun in the Scout program. The boys seem to think that the work is fun. The troop meets every Friday evening at 7:30 at the Narberth Presbyterian Church in the social hall.

'Time Out'

By TOMMY MACKLIN

We spent the dinner hour in a Lower Merion home not so long ago with an unusual family. Unusual in many ways, and especially in numbers, for families have a tendency these days to be in twos and threes. Five boys and five girls go to make up a fine circle in this home. One of the very American things about this family is the interest shown by the parents in their children's interests. Not a speaking interest, but a living, active interest. The boys play basketball, and football, and in the spring it is either baseball or track.

When any one of them has a game of importance, there you will find Dad or mother, and often both. When the big basketball games are being played in neighboring towns, out comes the big car and the little car, and off the family goes to enjoy a fine evening together.

If active participation in sports could be furnished to all the boys in America there would be practically no crime at all. One of the finest things along the Main Line for the good of the boys who live here is the operation of league basketball during the winter months. Ten churches have teams in a church league which has been in operation for several years. The recently formed Main Line League has eight teams in the field. In the Church league, the teams are made up of boys in their teens, with a few more mature fellows with not much athletic experience. Each team has a second squad made up of the younger boys from fifteen to eighteen. These teams play once or twice a week. The Main Line League takes care of the high school graduates and fellows who do not go to school and do not have a way to enjoy sports in collegiate or high school conferences.

It is wonderful sport, and the young fellows form lasting friendships with the players with whom they come in contact. Healthy community spirit is formed between their neighboring towns with teams from Paoli to Narberth and all intervening communities.

It is too bad that our Y. M. C. A. has failed to take hold of the wonderful opportunities offered along the Main Line, for the young people need such an institution, properly equipped and directed, to give the boys and girls of this section leadership in athletic and social fields after they have severed their relations with schools, and to those who feel timid about competing for school teams.

The men in charge of the leagues are to be congratulated for carrying on this important work, and the churches deserve praise for giving younger members an opportunity to see their church in a more human light.

Supervised athletics is one of the most beneficial and most important laboratory subjects in the world's curriculum.
